firstonline Conditions of Use - Please read carefully

Connecting - you are responsible for providing all equipment/browsers needed to connect to the Internet and for paying any telephone and ISP charges associated with it.
Security & protecting your account - you must stop unauthorised access to your account. Promptly examine any written statements from us and contact us immediately if you find discrepancies. You must keep your password confidential and not give it to anyone or store it in a way that lets someone else access your account. We use encryption technology but data on your browser can be stored and be visible to later users of that PC; minimise this risk by closing the browser when you log off the service. Some browsers store passwords and other users can access your account unless you disable the functionality. You must notify us of any address changes so we can keep correct information.
Acceptable and unacceptable uses - you must use firstonline in a way that doesn't violate any domestic or international laws or regulations, respects the protection of materials afforded by copyright, trade marks, license rights and other laws, and respects others' privacy. It is not acceptable, amongst other things, to use tax file numbers inappropriately or transmit private information without authorisation.
We are not responsible for the content of your data transmission - you are responsible for any internet activities in your account. We do not directly supervise data transmitted on firstonline and the responsibility for access, transmission and all consequences lies with you or the sender. We are not responsible for errors submitted by you or a third party, either authorised or unauthorized, or for any errors that may be contained in any of the information provided within firstonline.
We will not be liable to you - you agree that using the service is at your risk. firstonline is provided on an "as is", "as available" basis and sometimes will not reflect recent changes to your account. We disclaim any warranties to the extent permitted by law. We are not liable to you for any cost, loss or liability arising from our supply, failure to supply or delay in supplying the service, including but not limited to content, loss of data, loss of savings or any other special or consequential loss or damage, whether from negligence, breach of statutory duty or otherwise connected with your use of firstonline.
We may check that firstonline policy is being followed - We can monitor the service to see if these Conditions are being met and, if we do, we will safeguard your privacy unless it conceal a criminal offence or inhibit the enforcement of these Conditions. If we think the use of firstonline may break the law, has not complied with these Conditions or other people have accessed your account, we can warn you, suspend access or provide information to the authorities as is appropriate in the circumstances.
email announcements - we may send you messages about your super. You can see our Privacy Statement on our web site and advise us in writing if you don't want to receive emails from us.
Withdrawal of firstonline - We reserve the right to modify, suspend or discontinue firstonline at any time and we will not be liable to you or any third party should we exercise our right to do so.
