7 ways to put your super to work

Your super can do more than you think.

While the purpose of super is saving for retirement, it's more flexible than you may believe. It can be there for you in other ways too, by providing an insurance safety net, helping you save on tax, or supporting your loved ones if you die.

Are you ready to start making the most of your super?

2. Combine your super

If you've had more than one job, you may have more than one super account. If you have more than one super account, you're paying multiple sets of fees. This can eat into your savings and leave you with less for retirement

By finding and combining any other super balances you have into your First Super account, you can:

- get your super working together, making it easier to manage your investments
- keep track of a single account balance
- save on fees.

How to combine accounts >

- Ready to find and combine your other super balances? Log into firstonline or the First Super app and go to 'My Transactions'.
- ✓ Need help? Speak to your local Member and Employer Services Coordinator<sup>1</sup> or Member Services on 1300 360 988.

Before you transfer out of any other super fund, it's important to consider the appropriate level of insurance you need, any applicable fees, and if you're in a defined benefit account.

Reunite with your KiwiSaver

Have you worked in New Zealand and now live in Australia?

With First Super, your KiwiSaver can join you in Australia<sup>2</sup>. Add your KiwiSaver to your First Super account and grow your money more for retirement. Learn more at firstsuper.com.au/kiwisaver-transfers.

&lt;sup>1</sup>Member and Employer Services Coordinators can provide factual information and general advice only.

3. Invest your way

As a First Super member you can choose from five investment options.

All have different risk and return profiles, ranging from high to low risk. Some contain more 'growth' assets and may go up and down in value more often, while others contain more 'defensive' assets. These are more stable, but generally don't perform as well over longer periods of time.

- Shares Plus
- Growth
- Balanced
- Conservative Balanced
- Cash

Unless you choose differently, vour super will be automatically invested in the Balanced option, which contains a mix of both growth and defensive assets. It's important to choose an investment option - or combination of options – that's right for your circumstances.

Choosing your investments

Explore our investment options at firstsuper.com.au/investment-options. Discuss your investment choice with one of our Financial Advisers<sup>1</sup> by calling 1300 360 988 or booking an appointment at firstsuper.com.au/book.

A long-term performer

When it comes to super, long-term performance counts the most. To learn more about First Super's performance go to firstsuper.com.au/investments and view our investment returns and investment performance.

4. Boost your super

Every little bit you add to your super now helps set you up for a better retirement. Just make sure you stay under the contribution cap limits to avoid paying extra tax. And remember, you can only make most types of contributions until you're 75.

Before-tax (concessional) contributions

Before-tax contributions can be a good option to boost your super and potentially save on tax.

The before-tax contribution cap is $30,000<sup>1</sup> per financial year and includes super guarantee payments from your employer.

✓ Salary sacrifice

Salary sacrifice is when your employer agrees to regularly contribute extra money from your before-tax salary into super on your behalf. Not only are you boosting your super, you could also benefit from paying less income tax on your reduced salary.

Personal tax-deductible contributions

Personal tax-deductible contributions result in the same outcome as salary sacrificing. but are a different way of going about it. Save up and contribute to super after tax by BPAY® or EFT when you're ready, then claim it as a tax deduction later. Because you claim the deduction, it counts towards your before-tax cap. If you're aged between 67 and 75, you may have to meet the government's work test to make this type of contribution. Find out more at ato.gov.au.

Carry-forward ('catch-up') rule

If you do not use up your before-tax contribution cap in previous years, you can roll these amounts into future years and make a bigger contribution. We recommend seeking financial advice, as conditions do apply.

How super can help you buy your first home

Under the First Home Super Saver scheme (FHSS) you may be able to invest money in your super and save faster for your first home. You can also use your KiwiSaver funds. Read our FHSS fact sheet at firstsuper.com.au/fact-sheets to learn more.

<sup>1</sup> For 2025/26.

After-tax (non-concessional) contributions

If you're on a lower income or have a windfall, the flexibility of after-tax contributions could work for you. Contribute regularly or on one-off occasions as it suits you.

The after-tax contribution cap is $120,000<sup>1</sup> per financial year.

✓ Voluntary contributions

Voluntary contributions are top-ups you make by EFT or BPAY® from your bank account or if you come into some money, like an inheritance or proceeds from a sale. Because you've already paid income tax on this money, you won't pay any super contributions tax unless you exceed the annual $120,000 non-concessional contributions cap. You may even be able to contribute more than this - refer to the bring-forward rule below.

✓ Super co-contribution

Designed to boost the savings of low- and middle-income earners, you could receive up to 50c for every dollar you put in after tax, up to a maximum of $500. If you meet the eligibility criteria, including earning below $62,488, a co-contribution will automatically be added to your super after you submit your tax return.

Bring-forward rule

If you're under 75, you can bring forward two years of non-concessional contributions for a total of $360,000 over three consecutive years. Conditions apply.2 In practice, this means you could contribute more than the contribution cap in a financial year, but you won't receive a tax penalty, you'll simply trigger this rule.

Grow your super 🔰

Go to firstsuper.com.au/grow-my-super for more information about how to boost your super.

&lt;sup>1</sup> For 2025/26.

5. Check your insurance cover

At different stages of your life, such as moving out of home, moving in with a partner or having kids, it's likely you'll need different things from your insurance.

First Super offers three types of insurance cover.

Death (including Terminal Illness)

Death cover provides a lump sum payment if you are diagnosed with a terminal illness or die while a member of the Fund.

Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD)

TPD cover means that if you become totally and permanently disabled, the balance of your account plus any insured benefit may become payable.

Voluntary Income Protection

Income Protection cover provides a regular income for up to two years if you cannot work because you are totally or partially disabled due to illness or injury.

All eligible members<sup>1</sup> will receive automatic (also called 'default') insurance cover of four units of Death and TPD insurance cover, starting after we receive the first contribution into your account. You must also be at least 25 with a balance of $6,000 or more.

If you are under age 25 and/or your account balance is below $6,000, by law you won't receive cover automatically. However, you can 'opt in' to tell us you want it – go to firstsuper.com.au/opt-in and enter your details.

Looking for income protection cover? You'll need to apply using our insurance forms at firstsuper.com.au/forms.

&lt;sup>1</sup> For eligibility criteria see pages 4 and 5 of our Insurance Guide at firstsuper.com.au/pds.

6. Nominate your beneficiaries

Did you know your super balance and any insurance you have with your super doesn't automatically go to your estate if you die?

Instead, First Super must follow superannuation and tax laws to decide who is eligible to receive any benefits – i.e. who is the 'beneficiary' of this money.

By nominating beneficiaries, you're making sure we know your preference and that the people you love will be taken care of if you die.

How to nominate a beneficiary

There are three types of beneficiary nomination – Non-Binding, Lapsing Binding, and Non-Lapsing Binding.

Depending on your situation, one option may be more suitable than the others. Read our Nominating Beneficiaries fact sheet at firstsuper.com.au/fact-sheets to decide what's right for you.

Getting it right

There are strict rules around who can be named as a beneficiary. Make sure your nomination is valid by contacting us before you submit your form. Scan the QR code to find out more about nominating beneficiaries.

- Non-Binding nomination: A request (not legally binding) that we'll take into account when deciding who should receive your death benefit. Call us, update your beneficiary in firstonline, or use the Nomination of Beneficiary Form.
- Lapsing Binding nomination: Legally binding (if it's valid) and must be followed by us. Visit firstsuper.com.au/superannuation/how-super-works/nominate for more information about who can be nominated. Then complete the Nomination of Beneficiary Form at firstsuper.com.au/forms and send it back to us. This must be signed by two witnesses and is valid for three years.
- Non-Lapsing Binding nomination: Legally binding (if it's valid) and valid indefinitely unless you cancel or amend it. Visit firstsuper.com.au/superannuation/ how-super-works/nominate for more information about who can be nominated. Then either make your nomination in firstonline, or complete the Nomination of Beneficiary Form at firstsuper.com.au/forms and send it back to us. This must be signed by two witnesses.
